I feel very comfortable in my new room in Toronto. It's so nice and cozy. The refrigerator is a great help, and I often bake something. Medi will surely find friends in our group, there are so many different girls and boys, and yet a real camaraderie, similar to how it must have been in the Wandervogel back in the day. The fact that they are all on their own with Mutti brings everyone closer together, because there are no other influences like from parents or anything. What I really [like?] here is when newcomers arrive, how they find their place and join in. Medi could then take over the photography group. You see, many people here brought really good cameras with them, partly as an investment, and now they can't do anything with them. Werner, our current leader, probably knows a lot about photography, he has a Leica, but he can't really explain it well. I'm very much looking forward to Medi, it's about time that I get back in touch with all of you through her. It's been so long, and so much has been new. So much so that I can no longer picture myself at home. You will be less [concerned?] about Medi's

(Continuation from last night) Happy Birthday
